

Know before you go:
Jewish Community Night at the

CINCINNATI CYCLONES

1

We are going to the Jewish Community Night at the Cincinnati Cyclones game! Before we go, we can read the "Going to the Cincinnati Cyclones" social narrative to learn more about hockey games. This social narrative will tell us more about Jewish Community Night!

Jewish Community Night is a fun time for us to get together with other Jewish people to watch hockey. Everyone coming for Jewish Community Night will sit in a section together. We will be in this section if we use the link from the JCC to buy our tickets. There will be other hockey fans at the game too. Everyone is there to have fun!

We will all get special merchandise at the game. We can pick it up from a table outside of our section. We can wear the merch at the game, or save it for another day.

We can also pick up sensory kits from the Cyclones at the Guest Relations Booth. Sometimes hockey games are loud or chilly - we can use these tools to help us have fun.

Some people might get picked to play a game on the ice; we can cheer them on from the stands! Community Night is a fun time to connect with the other Jews in the community.
