Dear Community Members,

This is a year marked by transition. Longtime CEO Marc Fisher is retiring after 13 years in the role. Under his leadership, the JCC thrived, significantly growing its membership and program offerings, Early Childhood School enrollment, and services to the community – all in service of the mission of connecting people so they can live happier and fuller lives, creating a more vibrant Jewish community.

One of his most significant achievements is building a talented and committed staff that will continue to carry on that mission. That can be seen in his mentorship of Holly Wolfson, who will become the next CEO this fall after proving to be the top candidate for the role during a national search, conducted by the Board of Directors. Holly brings an intimate understanding of the JCC and this community and will build upon the J's strong foundation while forging her own compelling vision for the future.

It's not just the leadership team that is seeing transitions. The JCC is putting a renewed focus on weaving elements of Jewish Life into all our programming. And we are making deliberate efforts to increase accessibility to make sure everyone can participate fully in JCC programs.

We are proud to share this impact report, which outlines the important work of the JCC over the last year. From youth sports to young adult events, and from senior day trips to arts & cultural programs, the J is the hub of Jewish life in Cincinnati. On behalf of the Board of Directors, thank you for your support. You make this organization, and our community, extraordinary.

Sincerely,

Bob Oestreicher | President

ARTS, IDEAS & JEWISH LIFE

A Vibrant Jewish Community

Through Arts & Ideas and Jewish Life programs, people engaged with the richness of Jewish culture in ways that were both rooted in tradition and newly inspiring, building a vibrant and dynamic Jewish community.

- ▲ Our Jewish & Israeli Film Festival celebrated the magic of cinema, bringing the community together to enjoy 12 award-winning films.
- ▲ Through the Under One Roof Sukkah Art Exhibit, community artists and organizations shared their work around the central theme, Luminosity.
- ▲ The Fall Market featured a festive array of vendors offering baked goods, handcrafted jewelry, stylish clothing, and seasonal favorites, like apples and honey.
- ▲ We celebrated Pride Month with vibrant, meaningful events, including the Rainbow Challah Bake and marching in Cincinnati's annual Pride Parade, reflecting our commitment to inclusion and community. We collected 439 personal care items for Caracole, a nonprofit that supports people living with HIV/AIDS.
- ▲ In partnership with the Jewish Book Council, we hosted engaging virtual discussions with five authors over the course of several months.
- ▲ J Prime, our new initiative for adults 45 and over, launched successfully with six programs in its first year.

"J Prime is exactly what the Jewish community needs. I felt attracted to the scavenger hunt event because it included an engaging activity. I also appreciate that the group started together at the opening, worked with a team, and then was able to connect with everyone again at the end."

ISRAEL ENGAGEMENT

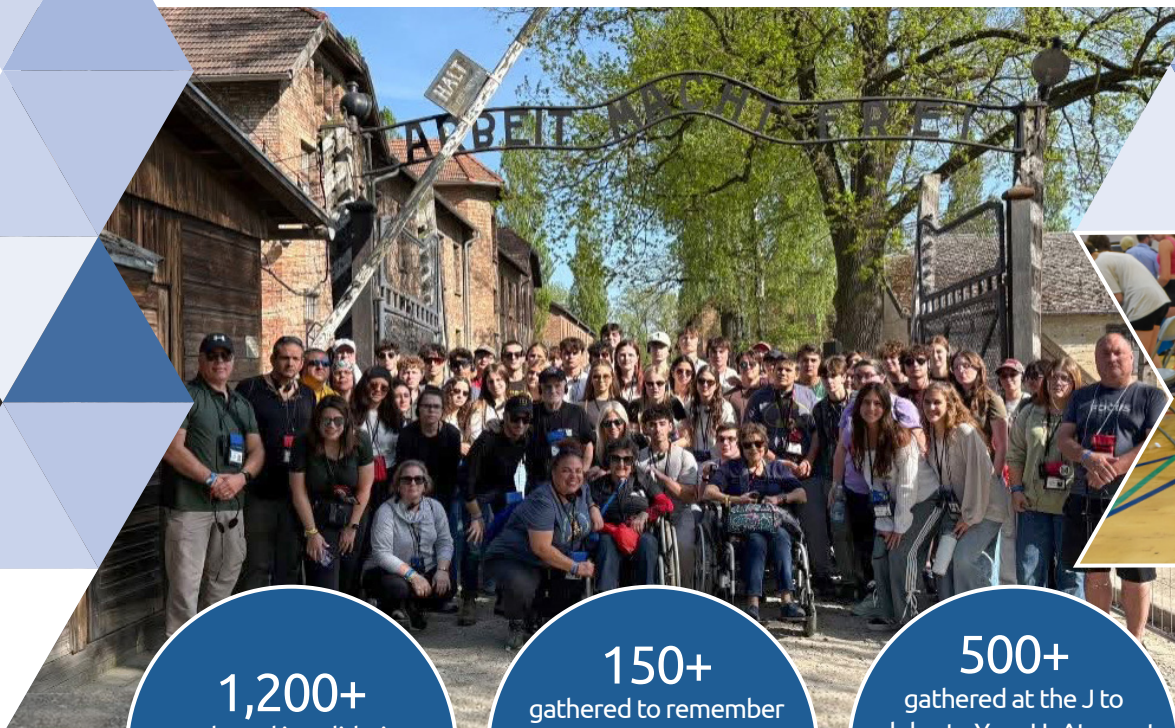

Connecting with Israel and One Another

Fostering meaningful connections with Israel is an essential part of cultivating a strong and enduring Jewish identity. Through educational programs, cultural experiences, and community events, the JCC provides opportunities for individuals of all ages to engage with the people, history, and culture of Israel.

- ▲ On Yom HaZikaron, we honored fallen soldiers and welcomed the Tamari Project musicians, who performed in honor of their friends and colleagues killed in the Iron Swords War.
- ▲ At the Yom HaAtzmaut celebration, participants built our Wings of Hope, an exhibit created out of broken toys that symbolizes community and resilience.
- ▲ As the hostages were being released, JCC members and staff gathered in the lobby to pray for their safe return and to honor the memory of those who were lost. As each person returned, we removed their corresponding shirt from our hostage display.
- ▲ To mark the one-year anniversary of October 7, we gathered with Jewish congregations in Cincinnati to commemorate the day and hope for a peaceful resolution to the war.
- ▲ For the first time since 2023, Cincinnati sent a delegation of high school seniors to Poland to participate in the international March of the Living.

"March of the Living provided a sense of community. In just ten days, I formed bonds stronger than I ever expected. I found people with whom I now share a deep, unspoken connection. Looking back, I realize how ignorant I was when I used to say I hated something or someone. Those sites are hate personified. The depths of hate go far deeper than anyone could truly grasp. As one of the survivors said, 'We get to leave.' I will forever be grateful for everything I have."

CHILDREN, TEENS & FAMILY Roots of Jewish Life

Connecting people is at the heart of the JCC's mission, and there is no more vital starting point than engaging young children and families, cultivating a Jewish community that will thrive for generations to come.

- ▲ The Early Childhood School welcomed 58 new families, joining 85 returning families, to a nurturing environment where children grow through play-based learning and Jewish values.
- ▲ Theatre at the J continues to thrive, providing a safe, supportive space where kids connect, grow, and build self-esteem. We started with 16 kids in 2022 and have grown to see 101 budding artists participate in the program.
- ▲ J Baby provided 22 sets of soon-to-be parents with essential classes on childbirth and infant care, all through a meaningful Jewish lens. Over two years, 55 J Babies have been born as part of the program.
- ▲ We celebrated a successful year of the Jewish Postpartum Circle, a partnership with Cincy Postpartum and YoFi at Wise Temple. This program offers mothers a supportive space to connect and share openly about the journey of postpartum and early parenting.
- ▲ In collaboration with the Cincinnati Ballet's Otto M. Budig Academy, we provided ballet classes for 27 aspiring young dancers.

- ▲ Through PJ Library, the J provides free, high-quality Jewish books to children and hosts family-friendly events that help young families connect, celebrate, and build community.

"Participating in the Jewish Postpartum Circle after the birth of my son was an incredibly meaningful experience. It provided a safe and supportive space to process my emotions and share my journey with other new moms who truly understood what I was going through. I didn't realize how much I needed the circle until I was in it; it became a support system during those early months. It gave me the chance to get out of the house, rebuild a sense of social connection, and most importantly, grow more confident in navigating experiences with my baby on my own."

— Devra Sadler

- 11,448 PJ library books were mailed out to Jewish households
- 376 people enjoyed Friday Night Shabbat dinners at the J
- 800+ audience members attended Frozen Jr.
- 219 unique campers made memories at Camp at the J
- 81 new students joined the Early Childhood School

YOUNG ADULTS Finding Community

The JCC's 20s & 30s program offers monthly social and educational events for young adults and encourages engagement in Jewish Cincinnati.

- ▲ The 20s and 30s embraced camp magic and lived their best summer lives at Camp Livingston.
- ▲ Young adults brought energy and excitement to the J Classic's 30th anniversary Par-Tee, making it a night to remember.
- ▲ The 20s and 30s crowd brought the ruach, singing their hearts out at the lively Karaoke Purim Party.
- ▲ Latkapalooza was a huge success, drawing the largest crowd of any young adult event this year.
- ▲ Young adults attended events in six unique locations around Cincinnati.

"The 20s and 30s programming at the JCC is something I hold close to my heart. I came to Cincinnati not knowing anyone and looking for community and connection – and immediately found it within the JCC's 20s and 30s group. I had the best time at the events, from Latkapalooza to Purim karaoke. I'm so grateful for the memories I have and all the friends I made within the community!"

IN THE COMMUNITY JCC on Location

Most importantly, the evening provides the group a fun and engaging way to build community and comradery with each other in our diverse cohort of ages and life stages."

INCLUSION

Making Space for Everyone

The J's inclusion programs ensure individuals of all abilities feel welcomed, supported, and empowered to fully participate in community life.

- ▲ We launched the JCC Disabilities and Accessibility Inclusion Committee to further our commitment to creating an inclusive community.
- ▲ Camp at the J welcomed 19 unique campers from 17 different families through our advocate program.
- ▲ We introduced our new sensory kits and social narratives that support programs across the JCC, including Theatre at the J, Camp, and ECS.
- ▲ We partnered with Clovernook Center for the Blind & Visually Impaired on a digital audit of our website, accessible business cards, accessible cafe menus, and sensory kit info cards.
- ▲ We hosted six Special Olympics powerlifting athletes for training in our facilities, with one earning first place at the regional competition!

"We return to Camp at the J each summer because we know our kids will be taken care of. Our children feel safe and comfortable, and we don't have to spend the day wondering if they're having fun because we know they are. From the research I've conducted, I haven't been able to find any programs that compare to the advocate program at Camp at the J. They have typical and non-typical kids who all play together but also can interact where everyone is an equal and can learn from each other. The advocates matched up with our boys are wonderful and well trained in dealing with emotions and behaviors."

- ▲ With the addition of new studios, the J's growing Pilates program now offers even more classes and small group training sessions for participants at every level.
- ▲ We've introduced a variety of new group exercise formats, including Les Mills BODYPUMP™, a full-body barbell workout that helps participants burn calories, tone their bodies, strengthen their core, and support bone health.
- ▲ Stronger You empowers participants to become the best versions of themselves, building strength and confidence through focused, small-group training.
- ▲ This year, we launched our Sports Performance Training Program, combining high-speed treadmill work, laser-measured drills, and turf training to enhance speed, agility, and explosive power.
- ▲ The JCC is the first fitness center in Cincinnati to feature the Keiser A400 technology, putting it in a league with professional sports teams and Division I college programs across the country.
- ▲ We launched a new swim team, the Grown Up Swimming league, where 39 adult athletes competed in a fun, supportive environment and made new friends. They won the championship meet, too!

"Pilates at the JCC is absolutely wonderful. We have amazing teachers, like Erin and Stacey, each with their own style, but all extremely encouraging and highly qualified. They set the tone for getting an effective, challenging workout, while having fun. I have met many people in Pilates class that I now consider friends."

To have a meal, work out, or just hang out. A place where our children and grandchildren can make friends that hopefully, like Sally and I, will last our entire lives. To our way of thinking, the J is simply central to Jewish Cincinnati!"
